A great part of Arabia is desert. Here there is nothing but sand and rock. The sand is so hot that you cannot walk over it with your bare feet in the daytime. Here and there in the desert are springs of water that come from deep down under the ground-so deep that the sun cannot dry them up. These springs are few and far apart, but wherever there is one, trees grows tall and gracefully, making a cool, green, shady place around the spring. Such a place is called an Oasis. These Arabs have the finest horses in the world. An Arab is very proud of his riding horse and loves him almost as much as he loves his wife and children. He never puts heavy loads upon his horse, and often lets him stays in the tent with his family. The camel is much more useful to the Arab than his beautiful horse, however, for he is much larger and stronger. One camel can carry as much as or more than two horses. The Arabs loads the camel with goods and rides him, too for miles and miles across the desert-just as if he were really the “Ship of Desert”, which he is often called.
