ABOUT MOOT COURT COMPETITION-2025:

A Moot Court Competition simulates a court hearing, in which participants analyse a problem, research the relevant law, prepare written submissions, and present oral arguments. Moot problems are typically set in areas of law that are unsettled or that have been subject to recent developments.

Moot Courts usually involve two grounds of appeal, argued by each side. The procedure imitates what is followed in real courts: the judge enters, the mooters and the judge bow to each other, the clerk announces the matter, the mooters give their appearances and are then called on in turn to present their submissions, the judge asks questions to the mooters, the court adjourns, and the judge then returns to deliver a brief judgment and some feedback to the mooters. Mooting is not the same as public speaking or debating, although it shares some common elements with these activities. It is a specialized application of the art of persuasive advocacy. It has been part of the process of training lawyers for centuries and plays an important role in Legal Education.

From AI-generated art and music to autonomous inventions, the legal framework of IPR faces new challenges. Questions of whether can AI be recognized as an author or inventor? Who owns the rights to AI-generated works? Existing IP laws were designed for human creators, but as AI continues to evolve, so must our legal understanding. Balancing innovation with legal protection is crucial in this ever-changing landscape. In this Moot Court Competition – 2025, various teams of mooters will participate from undergraduate programs of Law from different Law Schools across India to share and shape the Legal Scenario shaping the AI and IPR Laws.

MOOT PROBLEM

Asgard is a developing nation which is focussing on developing various technological driven innovations and framing its laws and policies which encourages creativity and innovation. In the past decade, the investments have doubled in the fields of Artificial Intelligence and the Government is encouraging the companies and individuals working in the field of Artificial Intelligence to make innovations specifically to address the dissemination of knowledge and access to information. It also encourages to deploy Artificial Intelligence technologies to create inventions that would ultimately in the long run cut down on manufacturing and labour costs so that the Artificial Intelligence would autonomously and independently function and generate outcomes.

RevolAI is a technology-oriented corporation incorporated in the country Genosha. The corporation is specialized in providing Artificial Intelligence technology solutions which focusses on content generation, summarization and further dissemination to the public. The corporation undertakes the compilation, summarization, generation of new content in the form of articles, reviews, etc. with the help of an Artificial Intelligence Model named "GenovAI". The Corporation operates this GenovAI with its data centers situated in Genosha. The training of the GenovAI is effectuated with various data sources available publicly all over the world for gathering the information. It uses diverse datasets comprising of newspapers, magazines, independently uploaded articles, digital media information, videos, and other publicly available information and archives. The GenovAI works on a pattern where it doesn't store the data or identically reproduces the data used for training, but adds its own independent functionality and generates a new content which is easily comprehensible by the readers and understand without any difficulty. Thus, the output of the GenovAI published on the website www.genovaiinfo.com, is unique in nature. RevolAI has thus become a renowned information provider with more than 100 million subscribers all over the world.

Prasar is a renowned newspaper publisher having presence both in print as well as electronic media industry. Prasar is registered and has headquarter in the state of Titan, in the Country Asgard. Prasar is well known publisher in Asgard having subscriber base around 70%. It has been functioning in Asgard for past ten decades and is renowned for its effective news delivery, real time updates, ethical journalism practices, relevant and updated editorials, etc. Thus, it has earned a great goodwill in Asgardian citizens. Prasar also has specific online website, where premium content and news analysis is uploaded on www.prasarpremium.com. Various statistical information, socio-political, legal analysis, write-ups by renowned personalities, high quality content, professional user interface, etc., are few features of the content uploaded on the website. This content is only accessible to the subscribers who pay an amount of Rs.850 for half-yearly access and Rs.1200 for yearly access in Asgard. They maintain a highly secured encryption and access mechanisms and technological protection measures to prohibit any kind of unauthorized access. Certain limited content with the same interface is freely available to the public where the same has been published in the newspapers.

It was found by Prasars' Intellectual Property team that similar content that was published in www.prasarpremium.com was identified in www.genovaiinfo.com. The data, that was identified was the news summaries which were published by Prasar, had striking similarities with what was published by RevolAI. The phrases, sentence construction, etc., were moderately paraphrased and published by RevolAI. The content was further investigated by their technical team and they were surprised to see that most of the statistical analysis, editorial reflections, etc., were reproduced in an unauthorized manner and no attribution was mentioned as to the source of the content. They immediately sent a legal notice to cease and desist from publishing the content and not train the GenovAI on the basis of the content that was published in Prasar and also claimed for Rs.25 crores compensation. RevolAI refuted the notice and stated that there were no violations and no unauthorized use, as the training of GenovAI did not involve any information that was available on Prasar as they had blocked the servers to access the content that is available in Asgard. It further stated in the reply that they do not adopt any practices that are against the intellectual property considerations and do not store the data that is used for training. The GenovAI only updates the data on the basis of available information and transformatively generates the content. In addition to that, they also contend that GenovAI is a Highly advanced system which generates outputs with no human involvement and publishes it on the website. So, the independent and autonomous nature of the Artificial Intelligence will not bind the RevolAI in any manner.

Aggrieved by the reply, Prasar approached the High Court of Titan alleging infringement of their copyrights. On the other hand, RevolAI is contesting the jurisdiction of High Court of Titan as it is not having any direct commercial interest and presence in Asgard. The case gained global attention and Artificial Intelligence Association, a non-profit organization impleaded into the dispute citing the relevance of Artificial Intelligence's independent and autonomous nature in generating outcomes requiring it a separate personality. It seeks for directions from the High Court of Titan regarding having the distinct identity to ascertain and simplify rights and obligations in the cases of infringement which is refuted by Prasar stating that, RevolAI shall be responsible for infringement.

The laws of Asgard and Genosha are in Pari Materia with India and the United States respectively. Any other laws or directives in other countries can also be used which can have persuasive value.

The issues in the above cases are including but not limited to:

1. Whether the High Court of Titan has jurisdiction?
2. Whether copyright exists in the content generated by Prasar and RevolAI?
3. Whether RevolAI is liable for infringement?
4. Whether a separate personality can be attributed to Artificial Intelligence?
